Raytheon Takes Option On Shawsheen Mill

One wrecked cruiser was chalked up against the snow storm Feb. 2. Officer Roy Russell sustained injuries, including broken ribs, cut knee and a forehead laceration when the car skidded on ice on Central st. as he rounded the corner just before the railroad underpass about 10:15 a.m. He was headed on an emergency call in Ballardvale. Police said the cruiser hit a moving van. The cruiser is one of two mentioned in a town meeting article calling for funds to buy two new cruisers and trade-in two old ones.

To Hire 1000 In Year And 6000 In 5 Years

Government Electronics Work Scheduled For Empty Buildings

The Raytheon Manufacturing company has taken an option on the Shawsheen Mills.

Its plans for the plant, consisting of five buildings and the powerhouse, call for employing up to 1000 persons in the first year of operation.

Up to 6000 men and women could be employed by the end of five years, the firm said, providing provided-for government contracts are secured.

The company would use the long-idle mills for its government electronics work, an announcement declared.

Announcement of the option, due May 15, 1956, was made by President C. F. Adams jointly with Textron-American, owners of the property. The statement emphasized that there are still many details to be worked out between the firms and various government agencies.

First hint of the sale appeared in the Townsman several weeks ago, when Mr. Plowman told this newspaper that a sale would be accomplished very soon.

Approve Request For Re-zoning

The planning board has approved Sidney P. White's request that an area of land between Andover st. and the railroad tracks be rezoned for industry.

Meeting Monday night, the board agreed to the proposal, which is article 54 in the annual town warrant.

Chairman Eugene A. Bernardin Jr. abstained from the discussion and vote because he previously had been connected with a request before the board of appeals involving the property.

Mr. White's request had come before the board at a hearing Jan. 23. He asked that the former Ben Jacques property, used as a lumber and coal yard, and other land he has under option be zoned so that he can process milk there, store bottles and paper milk containers and possibly store other

Text Of Realty Co. Letter On Rezoning To Larger Lots

The following letter was written to the planning board and read at the board's meeting with the firm, which resulted in a threat of legal action by the Realty Construction company:

Gentlemen:

"We own or have agreed to purchase four separate areas of land in the Town of Andover, as follows:

"1. The Flying Feather Farm or Seldon area consisting of about 74 acres and lying south of Elm Street.

"2. The Hollihan area consisting of about 10 acres which is a narrow strip of land between the Seldon area and Pine Street, and lying easterly of the Seldon land. This provides an entrance into the Seldon land from Pine and Elm Streets.

"3. The Downing area consisting of about 34 acres lying south of the Seldon land towards Summer Street and adjoining the Seldon land.

"4. The Burton area consisting of 38 acres lying northerly of Elm Street.

"Special consideration must be given to both the Burton and Hollihan areas on the question of rezoning. It is impracticable and virtually impossible to sub-divide these areas into minimum 30,000 foot lots, and end up with lot distribution and house placement or spacing that will blend into the surrounding community as a contiguous whole, or good community planning. The few homes in these areas will appear misplaced and out of alignment with housing immediately surrounding them. This is always true when zoning is severely upgraded in built-up areas, or in areas which are too small for large sized lots because of fixed boundaries of ownership, utilities, landmarks or existing public ways.

"The Burton area must cope with the following predetermined fixed boundaries, utilities, streets, and conditions. Westerly by the existing sewer line from Elm Street to High Street, marked "A" on the enclosed plan of the area.

"The new road must follow this sewer line. Southerly by Elm Street and an existing house and lot on Elm Street marked "B" on the plan. Easterly by the development of 15,000 foot lots on Westwind Road marked "C" on the plan.

"Northeasterly by a street which must be installed by us to reach the Axelrod development. Within these five predetermined fixed objects we must divide the irregular remaining land into minimum 30,000 foot lots. A preliminary lot layout in accordance with the proposed zoning change is filed with this letter to show you how this becomes practically impossible and still have a development that will be constant with reasonable community planning. You will notice that lots become long and narrow or distorted into many sides and angles. Lots go up to frontages of 340 feet and areas of 85,000 square feet.

"The same conditions apply to the small Hollihan area. It is bounded on the north by the Hollihan home and lot, on the south by another ownership already built up into 15,000 foot lots, on the east and about 1100 feet in from Pine Street by the Seldon land, and on the west by Pine Street. The enclosed plan shows the possible 30,000 foot subdivision. The lots become long and narrow, with little depth, and frontage as high as 285 feet. One can imagine the cost of utilities and roads for these lots.

"Neither of these areas should be rezoned under any conditions. The re-zoning of these areas will not affect the sewerage, drainage or water distribution as all are presently adequate to service 15,000 foot lots.

"The purpose of zoning is to promote the health, safety, convenience and welfare of the inhabitants of the town. Under Mass. General Laws, Chapter 40, Section 25, it is mandatory that the Planning Board have "due regard to the character of the different parts of the town" and that "zoning shall be the same for zones, districts, or streets having substantially the same character." The exact wording of the law is quoted.

"It will, therefore, be impractical, against public interest, detrimental to the neighborhood and illegal to rezone either of these two areas. If you proceed to rezoning, we ask that you amend your map and boundaries to especially exclude these areas.

"Because we have brought to your attention special conditions which exist in these two areas does not by inference mean that we assent or agree to rezoning in the remaining areas. We are opposed to any rezoning. The agreements, facts, evidence and reasons against general rezoning have been previously presented to you in public hearings and there seems to be no need of repeating them in this letter.

"We again offer our services and co-operation in the solution of any problems and again request a conference with reference to the subject matter of this letter, our presently filed definitive plans for the Burton area, or our future plans for development in Andover of other land which we own."

of Mrs. David Cardinal, Mrs. James O'Reilly, Mrs. Robert Paul and Mrs. Richard Germaine enacted a version of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs". Dens 2 and 3 presented "Peter Pan" with the assistance of their den mothers, Mrs. Joseph Licciardello, Mrs. John Scuderi, Mrs. Norman Barnes and Mrs. James Wilson. A patriotic theme was next on the program with Dens 4 and 6 as the performers under Mrs. Andrew Innes, Mrs. James Baxter and Mrs. Paul Bravacos. "Huckleberry Finn" under the direction of Mrs. Douglas Howe and Mrs. George Harper was enacted by Den 5. The Webelos group under Robert Paul and James Wilson presented "Treasure Island."

Mrs. Norman Barnes and Dr. John Wholey were in charge of the musical portion of the Cub scout program.

The impressive Boy Scout portion of the program opened to the beat of tom-toms and displayed an Indian party in full costume seated before the ceremonial fire. A very realistic Indian dance was followed by each boy lighting a candle and giving a point of scout law. The Boy Scout program came to a close with the playing of taps.

The program for the evening was one of the most colorful and enjoyable programs yet presented with an excellent job being done by all participating youngsters.

Shawsheen School Chapel

The Shawsheen school held its regular chapel program with grade two performing. Mrs. Robert Domingue, second grade teacher, prepared the material for the program. Michael Sullivan served as announcer and after the morning hymn and prayer by Daphne Thompson, the audience joined in the Lord's Prayer.

David Morgan then told about "Franklin's Resolutions". Kathy Lauder went further to tell the children why we have banking days. Pauline Nigrelli told of a walk she took. Cathy Cebula proceeded to tell about someone all children love. Gary Anderson told about a new kind of clown.

The children of the second grade combined to sing a group of songs. Susan McGovern then told about when she likes for supper on a cold winter's night. Charles Towne told about two friends and Joey Pizzano joyfully told about his new skates.

The program closed with the "Salute to the Flag", and everyone joined in the singing of "God Bless America".

Shawsheen's Woman's Club

A program of music presented by the Reynold's family was enthusiastically received by members of the Shawsheen Village Woman's club at the meeting held Monday at 2:30 in the Andover Country club. Mrs. Walter Caswell opened the meeting and after a short business meeting, Mrs. John Guild, program chairman, took over and introduced the musically talented Reynolds family.

The program opened with the entire family singing a hymn after which John Reynolds sang a group of classical and folk songs. He was accompanied by his wife, Barbara. Editha Reynolds gave a reading from Peter Pan and later in the program she and her sister, Karen, sang a duet of folk songs. Young five-year old John Jr. stole the show when he appeared in costume and sang the "Teddy Bears Picnic".

This was one of the most delightful programs ever presented for the enjoyment of the club members. Mrs. Herbert Clegg won the beautiful center piece. The next meeting will be an all day affair, Mar. 5, to be held in the Country club.

American Home Meeting

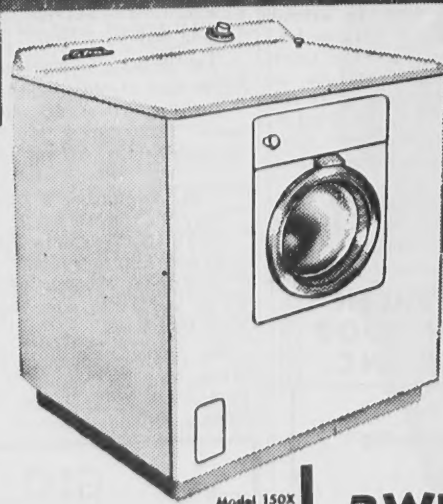

The February meeting of the American Home and Antique Study department of the Shawsheen Village Woman's club will be held today at 2:30 p.m. at the Historical house on Main st.

The speaker for the meeting will be Mrs. Addison Simmons who will speak on a subject of concern to most women, "You and Diet". Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Thomas Sutton and Mrs. George Harper.

equipment or produce.

The land is now non-conforming to the surrounding area, which is zoned for single residence dwellings.

84 Feet Wide

Atty. Fredric O'Brien, speaking for Mr. White, said there still is a permit for a filling station type of operation there and that the proposed use will not be out of character. He pointed out to the board that the land - 84 feet wide at its widest point - is unusable for houselots.

It is served by a railroad siding, he stressed and is similar to other areas in town which were zoned for industry when the zoning by-law was passed.

Mr. White pointed out that he owns the land across the street and has his own home in the neighborhood. Thus, he said, he would not want to see anything done to destroy property values in the section.

Support Request

Several speakers supported Mr.
White's request, pointing out that the town needs additional revenue from industry and business and that there is no other reasonable use for the property.

While the purposes for which the land will be used might fall within agricultural zoning, Mr.
O'Brien told the board that there are no agricultural zones on the zoning map although descriptions of such a zone appear in the zoning by-law. Thus, he said, there would be little point in setting up one small agricultural zone.

There were no objections to the proposal, although many persons attended the hearing to hear
Mr. White's plans for it.

Strict Rules For Conduct Were Required For Old-Time Pupils

By Kay Noyes

During the past several years when discussions have centered around the school shortage, there always seems to be a doubt concerning the old red brick schoolhouse on Lowell st., Shawsheen, known as the Richardson school.

There is usually a question concerning the edifice - perhaps it could be used to alleviate the crowded conditions that are present. On the advice of competent architects and contractors specializing in school construction, it was decided that the feasibility of repairing this 108-year-old building would be disproportionate to the value it could give.

Saw School Needs

In 1846, the residents of the Chandler district, which was composed of the West center and most of Frye village, saw a need for a school house which would be more accessible than their present one.

The land on which the new school was to be erected was owned by John Dove, of the Smith and Dove company of Shawsheen and was given by him to be used as the school site. The gift of the land enthused the citizens so that they immediately started a subscription within the district and raised the sum of $2,464.

Richardson Gift

Warren Richardson, another member of the Smith and Dove firm, donated $1,000 to the school fund and it was his generous gift to the Andover school system that enabled the Chandler residents to complete their school in 1848. It was from this same Warren Richardson that the school derived its name.

The specifications given to Russell and Gleason, the contractors, stated that the school should contain 48 desks and 96 chairs in the large rooms and 15 desks and 54 chairs in the small rooms. The desk tops were to be made of cherry wood and the legs and sides were to be stained maple or birch to represent cherry. Each desk was to have its own ink stand and slide cover and the chairs were to be plank seats hollowed out and resting on iron legs.

Near the schoolhouse many may remember the old well with its wooden pump and the muscle contests enjoyed by the students to see who could pump the fastest.

$1 Weekly Pay

The first teacher was Deacon Foss who had taught in the winter of 1829. In the winter time the school had a male teacher because the boys who attended were 18 and 19 years of age and required a stern hand to rule them. In the summer young students and girls attended the school and required the guidance of a woman teacher. The teachers were paid a salary of one to two dollars a week and board was provided at local homes free.

The Richardson school did not outgrow its usefulness in the community until 1924, when the present Shawsheen school was built.

Rules Against Pranks

Evidently children in the mid 1800's were not as sternly raised as our forebears would have us believe. The following by-laws of the Richardson school suggest that the adolescents of those years were similar to those of this century and in many ways a good deal more prankish, at least as far as school mastery was concerned.

1. "No scholar shall go so far from the school-house at recess that he cannot be easily called by the teacher.

2. "No scholar shall enter any orchard or field, nor throw stones or any other thing into them; nor interfere with the right of any schoolmate on his way to or from school.

3. "No scholar shall injure the fences about the school-house, out-house or pump, by cutting, marking or defiling them by breaking the glass or by any means. And if any scholar shall so offend, it shall be the duty of the teacher to make it known to the parents or guardian of such offender who shall make the damage good.

4. "No scholar shall be admitted into the summer school under the age of three and one half nor into the winter school under the age of five years, nor into the school, summer or winter who does not belong to the district.

5. "If any scholar shall disobey the good and wholesome rules of school and continue to do so, it shall be the duty of the teacher to report such scholar to the Prudential committee, who may suspend or expel said refractory student as they may then expedient.

6. "It shall be the duty of the teacher to see that the fires are built each morning, when fires are necessary, and also that the bell is rung morning and noon, commencing at least 10 minutes before school time.

7. "It shall be the duty of each teacher to see that all is safe in their department, as regards to fire, doors, windows and blinds when they leave the school-house.

8. "It shall be the duty of each teacher to read their scholars the foregoing regulations at the commencement of each term, and as often as once in three weeks during the term, and to see that they are obeyed."

Approve Auxiliary Police Uniforms

The Auxiliary Police have been much in the news lately — first when Senator John Adams commented on the members' activities and then when an article was placed in the town warrant asking money to buy foul-weather clothing for them.

We feel that the Auxiliary Police here are worth every penny spent on them so far and a great deal more. Members work hard to become as proficient as a volunteer can possibly be in police methods.

They volunteer their time — most recently when the Mothers marched on polio — doing a vital public duty that could not possibly be undertaken by the regular force at its present strength.

Sen. Adams expressed the thought, in a State House hearing, that auxiliary policemen often take over details for which others would be paid if no volunteers were available. He did, however, comment that the local Auxiliary Police are a fine group of men, much devoted to their work and said he meant no criticism of the local auxiliaries.

We feel that the local men deserve great praise for giving of their time and skill. Certainly the town can afford a few hundred dollars, as asked in the warrant, to provide winter clothing so that the men can be dressed to meet the elements.

It would be a slap in the face to such a fine organization to refuse the money. Churches, charitable groups and the town itself would have to spend far more money if all were to pay for the work done now by the auxiliaries as a demonstration of their willingness to stand ready to help us all in time of great need.

Well Done, Jack

We join with many citizens of Andover and from the Greater Lawrence area in a salute to Jack Deyermund, who retired last week after 33 years of service to his town.

Jack is a well-known man — for he worked in the square for years and became a familiar figure to Andoverites and those in other communities who pass through our town frequently.

He was always courteous; and was alert to any intrusion into peaceful town affairs.

We join in saying "Well done, Jack". May your retirement to a happy one after your many years of unselfish devotion to the town.

Layman's Dinner Feb. 16 At West Parish Church

DR. TEHYI HSIEH

The Andover Layman's Annual dinner, representing all Protestant churches in the town, will be held at the West Parish church Feb. 16.

Dinner will be served at 6:30, with the Men's Brotherhood of the West Parish church as hosts to the gathering.

Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, director of the Chinese Philanthropic Service Bureau, will speak to the group on "Hard Facts about Asia".

He is recognized as a leading authority and interpreter of the ideals and hopes of the Far East.

Dr. Earl Waddington is head of a committee in charge of tickets for the affair, which will be limited to 150 men. Clyde M. Goldthwaite is president of the West Parish Men's Brotherhood.

Taxpayers Assoc. Wants Members

"Save Money With Your Money" is the slogan of the Taxpayers association membership drive which continues until Feb. 20.

Harold Haller, chairman of the membership committee, has announced plans to increase membership by 100 percent. It is the first drive for new members in 10 years. All active members are being asked to get one new member while each of the directors are responsible for 15 new members. In addition, all business firms are being asked to help out.

Using the additional funds raised through the drive, the association said it hopes to keep taxpayers more currently informed of the town government's activities. Through its research facilities, the group would then analyze and evaluate these activities and publish its recommendations.

REASONS FOR TOWN MANAGER

No Single Head

"There is no single body or official controlling the administration of the town's affairs or the disbursement of funds appropriated by the town meeting for the conduct of the town's business and the extension of its services. The fact that there is no central administrative head and that so many different boards have to consider so many different facets of town administration leads to much confusion. Frequently, problems are referred from one board to another because of confusion as to statutory requirements or for other reasons. This form of administration is ineffective and confused. The situation has convinced your committee that a change is desirable and necessary."

Boards Independent

Along the same lines, the report said investigations have shown that the three main town boards operate independently of each other and are responsible only to the voters and "have little communication with the other except as some one individual may be a member of more than one board".

The report pointed out that some 50 persons are now elected to positions or boards or town offices. It said that the conclusions of the committee were based "solely on a careful study of the present organization of town government" and said that no intent to be critical of any officials existed.

Full-Time Administrator

The report, listing other reasons for the change, said "However diligent a part-time elected official may be, it seems unrealistic to expect the efficient service that could be had through a single trained official who could devote his full time to the administration of the town's affairs."

"We are convinced", the report read, "that the town will continue to grow and that such growth will demand careful central planning and a continuing program of development. Past experience proves that under our present form of administration the town cannot expect to keep abreast of the demands of future growth."

After describing the Executive Secretary to Selectmen form of administration as a system under which the Secretary has only the powers and duties given him by the selectmen and under which the Secretary can only work for the selectmen unless given their permission to help other boards, the report said the committee also discussed the value of combining some present boards.

Avoids Issue

The report stated the members' conclusions: "Any attempt to improve the town administration must, of necessity, involve amendment to the statutes which govern our town affairs. At best, any amendment short of the adoption of a complete new charter would be avoiding the issue and would not in any sense assure the improvement necessary for the efficient administration of town business."

Town Meeting As-Is

The report also noted that the town meeting will remain, with powers "exactly" the same as at present. The comment came after a mention of one objection to the plan, that of the people surrendering their rights. It said that the selectmen are still answerable to the people and can be reelected or defeated according to their service of the town.

Answers Questions

Some questions which the committee felt were most frequently asked were answered in the report. They included:

How much is a manager paid? About nine or 10 thousand dollars for a good one.

Have Massachusetts towns thrown out the manager form? Sixteen have adopted it since 1915 and one threw it out. Twelve cities adopted city manager and nine retain it.

Is the plan undemocratic? It's a change in administration but not in form of government. Town meeting continues to be source of authority. Voters elect selectmen, who appoint and can remove a manager. Is more responsive to the voters' wishes, is more accessible to the people, can make immediate decisions. "There is less buck passing".

Town employees jobs become less secure? Town employees satisfied where they work under a manager. Ability to hold jobs depends on performance of their work and less subject to termination as result of the election of new board members. Pay scales tend to be placed on more equitable basis. Manager must depend on experienced employees and will continue them in their positions so long as they fill them adequately.

Manager's length of service? Not unusual to stay for 10 years. If manager does such a good job that he is sought by larger community, means that his administration is a success. Leaves his successor a smooth-working organization.

Chance for economies slight because manager doesn't control the school department? Still controls over spending two-thirds of budget, would have been over one million in 1955. Large opportunity for economies.

Cites Specific Reasons

The report also listed specific reasons, in summation, for its recommendations:

Full-time executive, trained and experienced in management of municipal business;

Operating economies through central purchasing and pool of personnel and equipment;

Eliminates competition between boards for appropriations, basing requests for appropriations on over-all needs of town;

Better coordination of activities and over-all program for future development;

Frees selectmen from details of administration, allows them to devote their time and efforts to policy decisions;

Voters have more convenient access to town government, more immediate action on problems;

Improves morale of town employees by assuring them of impartial treatment and equal consideration;

Speeds preparation of budget, simplifies its presentation, makes more thorough study possible by selectmen, Finance committee;

Avoids costly delays unavoidable when day-to-day decisions are dependent on committee action.

Rafton Asks For Recreation Areas

The planning board has been asked to set aside areas for conservation and recreation in the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rafton appeared before the board Monday night to urge the action.

Mr. Rafton told members of the board that he and his wife believe swamp and marsh areas, some woodlands, open areas and some acreage on high ground should be conserved for public use.

He originally suggested the idea in a Letter to the Editor of the Townsman, in which he called for public contributions to a fund which might be used to buy up such land for donation to the town.

The areas suggested by Mr. Rafton include all swampy sections available, which he would leave in their natural state. Uses of the areas, he said, would be for nature study, hikes, and activities which promote good health and welfare of the citizens.

He told the board that state experts urge communities to keep areas of the town for public use. He also pointed out that high carbon dioxide content in the air, caused by industry and increased residential growth, requires considerable areas where trees and plants grow so that the carbon dioxide can be used by them, thus removing it from the air.

The planning board was asked to set aside areas, with the idea that any funds acquired through donations could be used to buy the set-aside land at a reasonable price. Mr. Rafton said he hoped citizens would respond to the suggestion and that land would be purchased even if it had not been set aside by the board, providing sufficient money became available. The board promised to study the idea and consult with Mr. Rafton again.

D.A.R. To Hear Academy Students

Three Phillips academy students who come from foreign countries will speak to the members of Priscilla Abbotchapter, N.S.D.A.R., Feb. 14.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wilson Knipe Jr. on Stratford rd. and will begin with a 2 o'clock dessert. Following the three speakers, each discussing "Why I Like America", there will be a question period.

Members have been asked to bring washcloths to the meeting so that they may be sent to the Hillside school in Marlboro.

Assistant hostesses at the meeting will be Mrs. Thomas P. Dea, Mrs. Edwin Otto and Mrs. Leo V. O'Connor, regent.

White Resigns As BPW Head

Sidney P. White has resigned his BPW chairmanship so that another member of the board can act as the BPW spokesman at town meeting. He will continue to serve as a member until his term expires.

It is believed that his successor may be chosen at tonight's board of public works meeting.

Mr. White, whose retirement from the board after many years' service was announced some weeks ago, said he believed that "it is fair" to step down as chairman so that some other member could prepare himself for the annual town meeting. He offered to be of any assistance possible to the board at town meeting.

Other members of the board are Allan Flye, Leroy Wilson, Alex Henderson and Francis Reilly.

Town Meeting Preview Planned

A preview of the annual town meeting will be held Feb. 29 in the Central school auditorium.

Sponsored by the Taxpayers association, the meeting will offer voters and non-voters a chance to debate articles in the warrant and ask questions of town officials responsible for them.

"Every Andover voter must have felt, in the past, that important decisions regarding town business have been made without discussion and even without a good understanding of the issues involved," declared Taxpayers President Henry Wolfson.

"At the Taxpayers preview," he continued, "the people of Andover will be given an opportunity to ask questions on those items in the warrant which interest them most."

Mr. Wolfson pointed out that voters should be in a better position to go to the real town meeting March 10 "better prepared to vote intelligently on a warrant asking for the largest operating appropriation in our history."
